

Mercury Systems Receives $3.6M Order for RF Microelectronics for Naval Radar Application

September 6, 2018

ANDOVER, Mass., Sept. 06, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Mercury Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ: MRCY, www.mrcy.com), announced it received a $3.6 million order from a leading defense prime contractor for high-performance radio frequency (RF) microelectronics integrated into a naval radar system. The order was booked in the Company's fiscal 2018 fourth quarter and is expected to be shipped over the next several quarters.

Mercury Systems is a recognized leader in the commercialization of affordable RF and microwave microelectronics for electronic warfare, radar and weapons applications. All of the Company's RF and microwave components, modules and pre-integrated subsystems are designed and manufactured in scalable Advanced Microelectronics Centers. These highly automated design and manufacturing centers of excellence consistently deliver high-quality microelectronics innovations optimized for size, weight and power without sacrificing performance or affordability.

"Mercury Systems continues to play an important role as a supplier of innovative RF and microwave microelectronics to our valued prime customers and the United States Government," said Kevin Beals, Vice President and General Manager of Mercury's RF and Microwave group. "We are fully committed to supplying affordable microelectronics that reinforce our military forces' strategic advantage against our adversaries."
